

The job of the FCC should be to protect citizens against abuses that erode and terrorize our society, like the uncalled for violence and sex on television, that is generated and distributed from Hollywood. It should not reward those same people with a monopoly to communicate, educate, and entertain.

It should take actions to promote free enterprise, for example to insure that everyone has the ability to express themselves in whatever medium they choose.

It should not make it a crime to own the tools of self expression and creativity.

It should protect the Constitution of the United States by making sure any citizens can view whatever content they choose and comment on or even censor that content within their sphere of influence.

It should not require that only professionals, authorized by the State, are allowed to express themselves in multimedia and digital media.

Who, in the US Government, sponsors these regulations? Who, in the US Government, supports the sponsors? Who, in their right mind, believes these people are good Americans? Why are people who want to destroy our country allowed to hold such positions of power?
